MEN ASCEND FROM WORMS?

Samoan Tradition as to the Origin of Humanity Is One of the Most Curlous.

As a term of ridicule, human beings have often been called "worms," and in this connection the inhabitants of Samea have a strange superstition regarding our origin. A very peculiar ccurrence takes place in Samoa once year for a period of 48 hours. Toward the end of October, a dense mass of sea worms appears on the surface of the water surrounding Sames. These forms, which are of various lengths, are great delicacies of the Samoans! Known as "Palolo," they are sought for with enthusiasm by every native man, woman and child, and as they only stay on the surface of the water for a short time, in favored parts, these worms want watching for l It is in connection with these weird worms that the Samonns' superstition arose. The story is that Tangaloa, the chief god of the Samoans, sent his daughter, Turi, down to earth to search for a home. In all the waste of water there was only a bare rock, and she went and told her father of the shortage of dwelling accommodation. He thereupon gave her a wild vine to plant on the rock which she had found, and it flourished for a time, then died. Turi was vexed to think the vine would not thrive, but her father ordered her to dig it up. This she did, and discovered that all the withered leaves had turned to worms, and that, in some strange manner, these worms afterward became men and women. And thus the Samoans say, men were

BOOKS ONE'S BEST FRIENDS

Assertion Made That in the Imagina tion of Great Writers Complete Happiness is Found.

When once the love of books has come into a man's life he can never e lonely, he can never be bored, he can never lose his interest in life, he can never be quite unhappy. Books are the friends that never fail, and the men and women that only live in books are the best and the most real friends

If I were to set down the names of the 20 friends who mean most to me. I should find that more than one-half of them lived in the novels of Dickens and Thackeray, Dumas and Daudet, Wells and Hardy and Meredith.

The happy life is not spent altogether in the world of streets and shops and offices. A large part of it must be lived in the world of imagination. And living with the imagination of great writers we, too, learn to dream, and the happlest homes in the world are the castles in the air that we build for unshakable rocks.-Sidney Dark, in John O'London's Weekly.

Iron and Steel Work in India.

India has already laid the basis of a steel industry in the establishment of two important and successful iron and steel works; namely, the Bengal Iron and Steel works at Kulti, which turns out 100,000 tons of pig iron per month, and the Tata Iron and Steel works at Sakchi, about 155 miles from Calcutta, which has a monthly production of about 20,000 tons. Most of this pig iron is converted into steel, which is largely used locally in the production of rails and the smaller structural shapes, but even with the additional furnaces now under construction, which in the case of the Tata works will more than triple its previous capacity, not more than a fraction of India's needs of iron and steel will be supplied from these two works.

East Holds Rubber Supremacy. Until ten years ago rubber meant rubber from Brazil. Today Brazil's supremacy is gone. In less than a decade the far east has jumped to the front and now is producing nine-tenths of the rubber of the world. In the late sixtles, just when the first experiments with the automobile were under way, an Englishman, H. A. Wickham, who had spent much time in Brazil, conceived the idea that rubber plants could be grown on plantations.

Securing a commission from the India government he boxed up thousands of seeds, chartered a derelict ship up the Amazon, and started for India. The first trees grew at Heneratgoda in 1881, and that same year the first experiments in tapping began.

It Sure Helped.

Eight-year-old Raymond came from a small village to visit in Indianapolis the other day. In the village there was no water works and Raymond watered the flowers with a sprinkling can. Neither did they have a bathroom at home. And he eyed it and the shower it contained with won-

Finally he made his comments to his uncle, who was very tall.

"No wonder you all grow so big here in Indianapolis," he said. "Why, you have that big sprinkling can in the bathroom so that you can water yourself all the time."

Potatoes Used as Currency. Potatoes are now used as the stand ard currency in certain remote agricultural districts of Poland, since the Value of the potato fluctuates less han that of paper money. HAD FUN WITH CONDUCTOR

Fat Man Proved to Him That There Were Others With a Keen Sense of Humor.

On an outbound trip the other afternoon the "whistling motorman" of the east Washington line had lulled his passengers into a pleasant semiconsciousness with the drowsy monotony of his Siberian waltz. He trilled a pretty flourish, died gently into silence and glanced back at his sour-faced compatriot on the rear

"Ornamental! Ornamental!" sang the conductor. The passengers awoke with a start, craned their necks for bearings and then giggled in unison as the car stopped at Oriental street to allow a nicely-dressed and indignant young man to alight. Immediately a fluffy young thing rang for a stop at Arsenal avenue,

"Arsenic! Arsenic!" sang the con-

And again the passengers tittered. The motorman here cut in with a lively strain from "Lohengrin" that held all engaged until a sweltering fat man in the front of the car called back to the rear:

"Say, conductor, will you let me off at Whetstone?"

"Whetstone? Whetstone?" was the puzzled response. "There is no street by that name on this line."

"Well, they told me it was near Arsenic," and the fat man rang for stop.

The conductor glanced out of the window and growled: "Keystone avenue! Keystone ave-

And again the passengers tittered as the fat man climbed from the car.-Indianapolis News.

OLD STORY TO THE INDIAN

First to Practice Art of Camouflage In Warfare, Is Contention of Chief Strongheart.

Camouflage is as old as the storm god of Indian folk lore, according to Chief Strongheart, of the Yakima Indian reservation, who says his men are the real inventors of it, discovering its advantages in their earliest conflicts. When a battle was to take place in the forests in the summer months the warriors would paint their bodies green with a dash of other colors or produce the exact blend with surroundings. They even sketched birds and small animals on their bodles to make the effect more realistic. If the battle was to take place when autumn had withered the leaves and touched them into gold, splashes of brown and yellow made the warriors blend with the setting. The trick, when artfully turned, resulted in ourselves. They are, indeed, the only great victories, and many of the early settlers were taken into captivity by use of camouflage. Running Elk, Strongheart's father, was scout for Gen. O. O. Howard in the Nez Perces war, and aid to Colonel Roosevelt in the Spanish-American war, and Strongheart when a baby, was carried about on the former president's back. His grandfather was Chief Standing Rock, who took part in Custer's last fight, and who died at the age of 109 years.

Swiss Watch Industry,

In a survey of the Swiss trade in watches for last year, Trade Commissioner H. Lawrence Graves at Zurich points out that more and more the exports of these articles to the United States are being confined to finished watch movements without the case. The value of finished movements, without cases and of watches complete with cases of gold, silver and nonprecious metals, including chronographs and all watches of fancy de sign, amounted to $11.211,051. this total the value of the finished movements, without cases, was $8, 280,726. This last figure represents about 83 per cent of the total exports of finished movements from Switzerland during 1919, the rest going largely to England, Canada and Japan.

Indian Social Festivities.

The Indians of Northwest and central British Columbia are now in the throes of the height of the social season. One potlatch scarcely ends before another starts. The Indians gathered at Morricetown a short time ago in large numbers and gave away to each other all their personal be longings. No one suffered, as each had a suit of clothes to give and take. Now, the potlatch at Hagwilget, in the Hazelton district, is on. The Indians have foregathered again. Another gathering will be held later in the north. Considerable business is done at these functions by the white traders. They meet the trapper Indians and buy the spring fur catches.

Scientific Advance.

Prohibition has developed an appa ratus known as the ebullioscope, which shows accurately the boiling point of liquids and which brewers find useful for making off-hand determinations of the alcoholic strength of the brew while the product is still in the plant. Another instrument known as the cryoscope, which works on exactly the opposite principle, showing the varying densities of liqulds at the freezing point, is used for ascertaining the quality of milk.

Petersburg, Va., Sept. 30, 1920. Editor Dispatch:-it is raining hard his morning so will try and write a few lines for the Dispatch. August was the wettest of which any record has been kept but one. It rained every day but three. been a nice month but very hot for the last two weeks. As a rule the crops have been fine this Summer. We are harvesting one of the best corn crops that has ever been grown in the state. Commissioner Koiner estimates it at over thirty bushels to dith have returned from a much en-

We had a fine crop of peaches and plums but the hot wet weather of lugust rotted many of them. They sold from $1.50 to $3 per bushel. Virginia has a fine crop of apples year but prices are too low for the cost of production. In fact, that is the trouble with every poorest kind of unskilled labor want and get from $3.50 to $5 for an eight hour day and then turn out about onethird as much work as they did for one-third that amount of wages four or five years ago. As it is today, one-half of the farmers of this country are actually getting nothing for their work. If they figure interest on the amount of money invested and count high cost of seed and fertilizer and hired help they will have nothing for their Nine miles of concrete road are be ing laid between Petersburg and Richmond. So far, less than two miles have been put down, although the work was commenced the first of June. At first it was impossible to ment; after that it rained continuously for a month, making it bad as this is part of the national highway and has a very heavy travel and the detour roads are unhandy and of a poor qual ity. In fact they will be impassable this winter if it should be wet.

The tobacco market is disappointing in this section this fall. Last year bacco was higher than it ever before. This caused many to buy land at very high figures, paying down part and expecting to pay the balance out of future sales of tobacco. Tobacco is the most important industry of Petersburg, the value of the finished product being placed at $7,500,000 and employing 5,000 operatives. Petersburg manufacturers annually manu-factur over 2,000,000,000 cigarettes and 15,000,000 cigars. The cigarettes are all exported, while the eigars are sold in the domestic market. On an average Petersburg handles over 50,000,000 pounds of tobacco annualty.
